

By law
your child must be invited to attend the ARD meeting if a purpose of the meeting will be to discuss student's post-secondary goals and the transition services needed to achieve those goals.

Commissioner's Rules
§89.1055 (g)

For each student with a disability, beginning at age 16 (prior to the date on which a student turns 16 years of age) or younger, if determined appropriate by the ARD committee, the following issues must be considered in the development of the IEP, and, if appropriate, integrated into the IEP:

- (1) student involvement in the student's transition to life outside the public school system;
- (2) the student is younger than 18 years of age, appropriate parental involvement in the student's transition;
- (3) the student is at least 18 years of age, appropriate parental involvement in the student's transition, if the parent is invited to participate by the student or the school district in which the student is enrolled;
- (4) postsecondary education options;
- (5) functional vocational evaluation;
- (6) goals and objectives;
- (7) the student is at least 18 years of age, the availability of age-appropriate instructional environments;
- (8) living goals and objectives; and
- (9) circumstances for referring a student or the student's parents to a governmental agency for services.

What is meant by Transfer of Rights?

In Texas, a student reaches the age of majority (adulthood) upon turning 18. At this time, the student (regardless of the disability) becomes an adult and all rights previously afforded to the parent now transfer to the student. This means that the student will be the decision maker in Admission, Review and Dismissal (ARD) meetings, and will be the person who consents to or refuses services.

The parent will always be notified of an ARD meeting, but notice is not the same as invitation. However, the parent may be invited by either the student or the school district. If invited, the parent will be able to participate in the ARD meeting; however, the adult student remains the person who consents to or refuses services when he or she turns 18 years old.

A parent may obtain legal guardianship of the adult student; however, if the parent does not provide the school district with a copy of the legal paperwork on his/her 18th birthday, the district will transfer educational rights to the student.
