

NTH@C Learning Outcomes

Collaboration: The learner will demonstrate cooperation, leadership, and the ability to compromise as an authentic and accountable member in a variety of settings.

Content Literacy: The learner will demonstrate mastery of local and state learning standards through completion of rigorous and relevant curriculum-based projects and assessments.

Critical Thinking/ Problem Solving: The learner will be able to analyze, evaluate, and apply content and resources to find solutions to complex problems in both predictable and unpredictable situations.

Oral Communication: The learner will verbally communicate ideas and information clearly on a particular topic, demonstrating command of content in both formal and informal delivery.

Professional Ethics and Responsibility: The learner will be honest, punctual, and responsible even in the absence of direct supervision, and will meet all deadlines.

Research Skills: The learner will understand ethical and legal issues concerning access and use of information, and will gather and evaluate a variety of sources.

Technology Literacy: The learner will demonstrate professional, effective and appropriate use of a wide range of technologies.

Written Communication: The learner will be able to write effectively through the process of composing, editing, and presenting in a variety of formats, appropriate for purpose and audience.